

Rice Bowl Scores

From 1947 through 1982 the Rice Bowl, played at the beginning of January, was a game between two all-star teams from the east and the west of Japan. From 1983 through 2020 the Rice Bowl was the site of the Japanese national championship game between the champion of the X League (company teams and club teams sponsored by companies) and the College champion. Due to a growing competitive imbalance between the X League champion and the College champion in recent years the Japan American Football Association (JAFA) decided in January 2021 to change the format of the Rice Bowl. For the 2021 season the championship game of the X League, the highest level of American Football in Japan, became the Japanese national championship game played at the Rice Bowl, now called the Japan Championship Rice Bowl.
